

Todd Selby on board the Louis Vuitton Express

The luxury brand invited the American photographer and filmmaker to board the Louis Vuitton Express, for a trip from Paris to Shanghai.

In March, Louis Vuitton brought ready-to-wear Fashion Week Fall/Winter 2012-2013 to a beautiful close with a spectacular show at the Carrousel du Louvre, which saw models descend one by one from the Louis Vuitton Express, a real locomotive emitting plumes of smoke. Now, the train is up and running once again, and Louis Vuitton has invited photographer Todd Selby aboard to cross Europe and Asia from Paris to Shanghai. The American photographer and filmmaker will keep track of his journey in a travel log, noting down experiences as well as the encounters he has along the way, posted every day from July 6 on www.louisvuittonexpress.com. The Louis Vuitton Express and Todd Selby will reach their final destination in Shanghai on July 19.

See also on Vogue.fr in English:

Louis Vuitton launch fine jewelry boutique at Place Vendôme

L'Âme du Voyage - Une Escale à Paris collection as seen by Creative Director Lorenz Bäumer

By Eugénie Trochu, translated by Quinn Connors

The Selby
Goes
From Paris to Shanghai
by Train